How to Use this Guide

The first part of this guide is a great reference for those planning on or visiting the Berkshires and the second part is a useful reference tool for those living or looking to relocate to the Berkshires. Each section is color coded to help. Visit Here is ■. Live Here is ■.

The Berkshires is comprised of 32 towns and if you were to traverse it from tail to tip it would take you about an hour and a ½. In order to make navigating the Berkshire region simpler we have created the map to your left. This map divides our region into 3 parts: North, Central and South and also lists the towns within each of these divisions. To further help you in your Berkshire travels this Guide references North, Central and South in all of its listings allowing you to have a better understanding of exactly where each business lies within the County. So please remember to consistently reference the map on page 4 and to make it even easier, at the opening of each of the Guide sections you will again see this locator map along with a reference key.

THE Berkshires

GET AWAY TO THE Berkshires

The Berkshires has long been known as a world-class music, theater, art and dance destination. Here you will discover a cool mix of New England charm and city sophistication. With its scenic views, plentiful array of activities, vibrant downtowns, and exciting artisanal food scene, the Berkshires region of western Massachusetts is one of America's top travel destinations. It's the perfect setting for your dream getaway, any time of year.

From the Vermont border in the north to the Connecticut state line in the south, the Berkshire mountain range provides a beautiful backdrop and abundant natural resources for recreation and relaxation. Among the many special natural attractions here, Berkshire County boasts the state's tallest waterfall and its highest mountain summit. Outdoor enthusiasts find plenty of opportunities for four-season fun on our lakes, rivers, and mountain trails.

There's much here for the cultural and arts-minded as well. The Berkshires have long been known for our music, art, dance, and theater festivals. Tanglewood, Jacob's Pillow, and the Williamstown Theater Festival are among the area's summer favorites but the arts scene here is thriving year-round. In addition to world-class museums and interesting historic sites, you'll find performances and exhibitions throughout the region by local and world-renowned artists.

Williamstown, MA

No trip to the Berkshires is complete without exploring our main streets and back roads for unique shopping from boutiques to antiques and the fresh, local flavors found in our restaurants, cafes, bakeries, and coffee shops. From farmers' markets to five-star, farm-to-table establishments you'll find a passionate commitment among Berkshire chefs and food producers to source food using only local sources. Visit tasteberkshires.com to learn more about the artisanal food culture here and what makes this region such a popular destination for food lovers.

At day's end, a restful night's sleep awaits you at any one of our lovely inns, intimate B&Bs, and luxurious resorts. Hotels, motels, and campgrounds provide family-friendly comforts. Spas and wellness retreat centers revive and refresh the spirit. Whether you're traveling solo, on business, as a group or with family, you'll find everything you need to awake refreshed and ready for a new day of fun, learning, and entertainment #intheberkshires!

FACES OF THE Berkshires

Pam Tatge

Jacob's Pillow Dance
Becket, MA

As Director of Jacob's Pillow, Pam Tatge's vision for the future of one of the nation's longest running dance festivals is focused on a strategic plan that will help make it, and the Berkshires, a year-round cultural destination.

Tatge came to the Pillow in 2016 from Wesleyan University in Connecticut, where she was artistic director for nearly 17 years. "It's thrilling to move to a community with rich cultural partners," she says.

In fact, the word 'partners' is a mantra for the Pillow's community engagement plan that's in the works for completion by 2022. The plan extends the Pillow's education and outreach programs into local communities, creates partnerships with other cultural institutions in the area and gives world-class artists an opportunity to come to the Berkshires to study and develop new works.

"The Berkshires are an astonishingly fertile region for arts and culture," says Tatge. "The concentration of creative energy here makes for an engaged and enlightened audience. There's no other place like it."

WHAT'S NEW The Berkshires are an exciting year-round destination for all ages, offering the perfect mix of arts and culture, outdoor adventure, great food and distinctive shops. Here's a partial list of places you won't want to miss!

Visitors to the northern Berkshires will find two of the region's most notable art museums. Both have newly renovated spaces worth a visit. Stop by the new Manton Research Center while at The Sterling and Francine Clark Art Institute in Williamstown to explore the new Manton Study Center for Works on Paper, Manton Gallery for British Art, The Eugene V. Thaw Gallery for Works on Paper, the Henry Morris and Elizabeth H. Burrows Gallery, the Lauzon Glass Study, and the new public reading room. Purchase a combined admissions ticket to the Clark and MASS MoCA to visit the new Building 6 in North Adams.

Building 6 doubles MASS MoCA's gallery space, adds support facilities and amenities for performing artists and music festivals, and houses four long-term installations.

Just down the road from MASS MoCA in North Adams, see what developers Karla Rothstein and Salvatore Perry are doing at GreylockWorks to transform the former Greylock Mills complex into residential, food production, hotel and restaurant space. It is also an event space with amenities for hosting weddings, festivals and conferences.

If you're traveling in the central Berkshires, be sure to visit Pittsfield, the region's largest city, to explore arts, culture and the growing downtown scene. Business travelers or those looking for opportunities to start a business in the Berkshires will want to stop in at Framework, a new co-working space on North Street. You'll also find the new Wolfson Theater Center, headquarters for Barrington Stage Theatre Company. If you're looking for an interesting event space in the area, head over to Hancock Shaker Village where Main Street Catering, headed by farm-to-table Chef Brian Alberg, offers year-round full-service catering and event planning services.

From Pittsfield, head south to Lenox for a performance at the new outdoor

Roman Garden Theatre at Shakespeare & Company. While in town, visit Tanglewood to learn more about the multi-use, multi-season, four-building complex scheduled to open in 2019. The state-of-the-art expansion will create additional rehearsal and performance space and add year-round educational programming and amenities for visitors to the 524-acre campus.

Market Seeds Café at Hancock Shaker Village, Pittsfield, MA

33 Main, Lenox, MA

Looking for a new place to stay while in Lenox? Book a reservation at The Courtyard Lenox Berkshires, a Marriott property offering an on-site restaurant, fitness center, pool, and business services and meeting space. Also new to the hospitality scene here is 33 Main, an eight-room bed-and-breakfast-style luxury lodging experience created by Berkshires-based designer Annie Selke. Located in the heart of downtown, the newly renovated Federal-style inn showcases Selke's line of home furnishings. For a luxurious Berkshire hideaway to call your own, invest in one of the 19 residences at the new gated community at Canyon Ranch Living® at Bellefontaine.

Turn Park, West Stockbridge, MA

In southern Berkshire county, the new 200-seat Perles Family Studio at Jacob's Pillow Dance Festival in Becket offers a year-round space for rehearsals, informal performances, instruction and facilities for visiting artists as well as being available to host events. In Stockbridge, the renovation of the 18th-century Center House at Berkshire Botanical Gardens creates a four-season space for education, programming and special events. The restored building houses a new commercial kitchen, administrative offices, a gallery space, a library of horticultural and design books and a reading room. For a one-of-a-kind experience that marries art and the great outdoors in one beautiful locale, head over to Turn Park in West Stockbridge. The 16-acre art space in a former marble quarry is home to unique outdoor sculptures, art exhibitions, live music and a stone amphitheater for outdoor performances.

Leah Thompson grew up in the Berkshires, in the small community of Savoy. She left for college at the University of Massachusetts and then headed to New York City to begin her career. When she decided to leave the city, she returned to the Berkshires and plans to stay.

At age 36, Thompson says the Berkshires offer opportunities, especially for younger professionals, that wouldn't be possible in a bigger city. Through her leadership roles in both community and business organizations in the Berkshires, for example, she has made significant contributions of her time and skills that have helped improve the quality of life in the area. In fact, Berkshire Magazine recognized Thompson in its annual "The Berkshire 25" list, honoring a select group of individuals throughout the county who are 'dedicated, creative and influential.'

"People who live here care about this place," she says, "and it's possible to see your work make a difference."

Although Thompson loves the natural beauty of the Berkshires and its cultural and other attractions, she notes that the region's people are its most valuable asset and resource.

Michael Sharry

Berkshire Mountain Distillers

Sheffield, MA

For Michael Sharry, 26, a thru-hike on the Appalachian Trail with friends from the Berkshires after high school put him on a path that lead to living and working here. “That hike changed my life course,” says Sharry.

Sharry was already making beer with friends, creating unique brews with hops and other ingredients they grew themselves, when he headed to Italy for a year as a winemaker’s apprentice after college. In 2014, he returned to the States knowing he wanted to put his experience into working for a distiller, preferably one located in his home state of Massachusetts. Berkshire Mountain Distillers was hiring.

Four years later, Sharry manages research and development for Berkshire Mountain Distillers as well as its farm and orchard operations. Founded in 2007 by Chris Weld, the company is a ‘grain-to-glass’ operation. Their award-winning spirits are handcrafted in small batches by a small team using ingredients sourced locally, including botanicals grown in the distillery’s own gardens under Sharry’s care and the granite-fed spring water found on the property. Innovative collaborations with other artisanal food and beverage makers in the area are helping to expand the business further, along with the creation of new flavors for their own product line.

“The Berkshires offer an opportunity to align with people who hold the same values around sustainable food production and creating change,” says Sharry. “It’s an inspiring place to be!”

What makes living in the Berkshires so special? It's the extraordinary quality of life! There's natural beauty at every turn, easy access to a vibrant cultural and artisanal foodie scene, and proximity to mountains, lakes, and forests for year-round outdoor fun. There's also a growing economy here that's attracting families, individuals, and business owners seeking opportunities for building a fulfilling, balanced life.

From our smallest villages to our biggest city, much of what you find in Berkshire County's 32 distinct communities surpasses that of a major metropolitan center, yet it's more affordable here. Consider that the cost of living in the Berkshires is 51% of the cost of living in Manhattan, 66% the cost of Brooklyn, and 81% the cost of Boston. Beyond home ownership, the tax incentives and financial resources available in the Berkshires attract businesses across a wide variety of industries, from small startups to large corporations.

A sophisticated infrastructure adds to the draw of living here. Berkshire County's award-winning health care system and providers are recognized among the nation's best. Both Fairview Hospital in Great Barrington and Berkshire Medical Center in Pittsfield have been awarded five-stars and four-stars, respectively, by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services for exceptional levels of care. Berkshire Medical Center Cancer Center recently ranked among the top 1% in the country.

Massachusetts College of Liberal Arts,
North Adams, MA

The Berkshires is also home to some of the finest public and private schools in the United States, from early childhood education to postgraduate study. Williams College, Bard College at Simon's Rock, Massachusetts College of Liberal Arts, and Berkshire Community College are all based here. Local public-school districts provide top-notch preparation for college and careers, and independent college prep schools such as Berkshire School, Buxton, Darrow School, and Miss Hall's educate a diverse population of students from around the world.

Adams Community Bank

The Berkshires have been part of Charlie O'Brien's life since childhood when he and his family came up to the area from their Long Island home to ski. Since then, the 59-year-old President and CEO of Adams Community Bank has made a home here with his own family, making an impact on his community not only through his work but also by serving on boards and committees that help improve the region's quality of life.

"I've always been involved in the community wherever I lived," says O'Brien, who moved to the Berkshires in 1997. "Getting out there and getting engaged with others who share your passion for something makes life very rewarding."

O'Brien's more than 20 years of service at a community bank that has operated in the northern Berkshires for nearly 150 years offers additional opportunities to make a difference. "The bank donates 10 percent of its net income to local charities and community groups of all shapes and sizes," says O'Brien. "We target the eight towns where we have locations," he adds, "supporting everything from youth sports programs to large capital campaigns."

In addition to investing in the community, Adams Community Bank invests in its employees, fostering personal and professional development for the next generation of leaders through mentoring, training and encouraging community service. "Creating opportunities for our staff to grow increases the appeal of staying here," says O'Brien, "both with the bank and in the Berkshires."

Truc Nguyen

Truc's Orient Express Restaurant

West Stockbridge, MA

Truc Nguyen is the daughter of Vietnamese parents who have owned and operated the successful Truc's Orient Express restaurant and gift shop in West Stockbridge for the last 40 years. "The local community has embraced us," she says, "and our customers come from all over the world for our handmade Vietnamese cuisine."

Nguyen grew up in the Berkshires, attending local schools before heading off to college and then a corporate career in New York City. She has always had a hand in the business, starting at age 8 cooking in the kitchen with her mother, then later returning home from the city to West Stockbridge on weekends to help her parents during the restaurant's busy summer season.

In 2018, Nguyen will take over the business from her parents. As someone who has traveled the world, she says she is looking forward to coming back to the Berkshires with fresh eyes and ideas, honoring the legacy of her family's business while bringing her own vision and experience to its future and to the region's booming gastronomic scene.

"The Berkshires offer all the international flavors you could want," Nguyen says. "It's easy to feel connected to another part of the world and to other cultures," she adds, "I never feel I'm missing out by living here."

Tim Burke

Mill Town Capital

Dalton, MA

For Pittsfield native Tim Burke, age 33, the decision to return to the Berkshires with his wife and young daughter was both personal and professional.

The region's high-quality, approachable way of life held significant appeal for the Burkes.

They enjoy the abundant year-round outdoor recreation and family-friendly activities found in Pittsfield and the surrounding towns.

In addition to the personal fulfillment of living in the Berkshires, Burke also saw the potential to use his professional background and expertise to make a sustainable economic impact on the region through investments with existing and emerging businesses that foster economic development and jobs. With the intention of growing the Berkshire economy in mind, Burke and partner Dave Mixer co-founded Mill Town Capital and recently opened Pittsfield's first co-working hub, Framework.

Burke says both he and Mixer are 'passionate about the Berkshires' and are in the business of attracting and retaining businesses to the area that will help improve the quality of life here. Mill Town's growing portfolio includes both early-stage startups and established firms as well as strong community partner support for local non-profit organizations that are making a difference in the Berkshires. "There's much more in the hopper," says Burke. "It's early days for development here."
